In comparison to the three months ended March 31, 2022, we expect revenue and cost of revenue to decrease significantly, primarily due to the slow and methodical business and economic recovery efforts that are ongoing after China lifted its onerous COVID-19 related restrictions at the end of 2022. We also expect significant changes in certain other components of our total cost and expense primarily due to changes in certain expenses related to business development, including short-term work space rentals and consulting fees, as well as interest expense, but we are not able to quantify such changes at this time as the review of our consolidated financial statements for the quarter is still in process. Also, we did not have any investments during the three months ended March 31, 2023, so we will not report any gain or loss on investments for such period in comparison to the approximately $19.0 million loss on investment we reported for the three months ended March 31, 2022.
